

I'm tired of people using money and politics to further their own personal agenda. This is just another example of big corporations stretching the limits of morality by trying to limit what it's competitors can do through influencing the laws of this great nation. This is ridiculous. I'm tired of it and want something done about it. This is stifling innovation and in the end, hurts us, the consumers, more than anybody.